1. Yes, I forwarded this information to the company owner today to have u added.
  2. No, the bottle sent to the lab needs to be random. It is not acceptable for a manufacturer to send the bottle themselves because that could easily not be representative of the batch. I had discussed this with you before placing an order. Once we receive it, we will have test results within 3 days and will overnight you payment, thats not a problem. As far as shipping time, depends on how you ship it as to time.

Not a problem I will adjust it. 5kg should yield approximately 3200-3300 bottles.

A couple of other things:

- 1) Insurance – I remember speaking to you briefly about this before, but can your company add SK Labs as an additional insurer onto your policy? Our insurance does not cover these prohormone products so in order for us to continue producing them we needed to be added as additional insurers.
- 2) Product Testing – Do you want to us to send a bottle once we start packaging the product for testing directly to the lab? Reason I ask is you guys are VA, so assume shipping will take a week to reach you guys + time in transit for you to send sample bottle to lab + time for lab testing results, we are looking at roughly two weeks before test results are in and final payment can be sent. If we send a random bottle once we start the packaging process, we can probably shave at least a week off that time frame.

Please advise. Thanks,

Was just informed of one adjustment. We only had 5 kg to send instead of 6, so that should be approx 3350 to 3400 bottles.

Hi Bryan,

Pleasure speaking to you today. I just wanted to send you the email to confirm the following:

- 1) Production turn around on this batch will be 7 to 10 business days.
- 2) Pricing for 25mg/60ct per bottle 120cc will be $1.60 per bottle.
- 3) Terms are 50% downpayment, and 50% upon release of testing results. Please send 50% with the material.

If possible for all orders, please email the purchase order prior to sending raw materials so we can begin the paperwork process. The new GMP's require quite a bit of batch paperwork on our end so we need some time to account for that.

I look forward to working with your company. Please let me know if you have any questions,
